Flue-Cured Tobacco Changes

The proposed changes under the flue-cured tobacco program are no longer proposals. They have become actual changes, and the flue-cured producer should be well aware of the new provisions so that he may operate his 1977 crop as problem-free as possible.

In order for a farmer to be eligible for price support he must report the planted acreage of tobacco to the ASCS office on or before the later of June 14, or ten days after a requested measurement service is performed. He must also plant tobacco on an acreage that does not exceed 110 percent of the farm acreage allotment in effect on the earlier of the report date or June 14.

A farmer can request measurement service (staking and referencing) for an acreage of flue-cured tobacco up to 110 percent of the effective farm acreage allotment. The measurement service is provided by the ASCS office and it will be done for a nominal fee. If measurement service is provided there will be measurement variance. The measurement variance will be the larger of 0.1 acre or 0.055 times the farm acreage allotment in effect on the earlier of the report date or June 14.

The ASCS office will keep records as to the flue-cured crop acreage in the county. The crop acreage is the reported acreage if a spot-check is not made or the determined acreage if a spot-check is made. A discrepancy exists if a spot-check reveals that the determined acreage is smaller or larger than the reported acreage by the larger of 0.2 acre of 10 percent of the reported acreage.

The County Committee will review each discrepancy case and determine whether the operator knowingly filed a false report or knowingly failed to furnish information with a reduction in next year's farm acreage allotment.

If you desire measurement service or have any questions concerning the flue-cured tobacco program please contact the ASCS office as soon as possible.

Under leasing provisions, leases of quota after June 14 are restricted as follows:

a. If effective quota for outleasing farm exceeds 2,000 pounds, both lessee and lessor farm must have planted acreage of 50 percent or more of effective farm acreage allotment.

b. Transfers from lessor farm may not exceed amount by which farm failed to make expected production (actual producetion plus carryover) subtracted from expected production based on planted acreage times established yield).

c. Transfers to lessee farm may not exceed amount needed to complete the marketing of tobacco produced on the farm (marketings plus careful estimate of pounds on hand in process of production subtracted from currently effective farm market quota).

Emergency Feed Program

The Emergency Feed Program, which was due to end on April 30, 1977 has been extended to May 15, 1977. Farmers signed up under the program should have received notification of the extension and what it means. Farmers who have not signed up under the program and wish to should do so immediately.

Then And Now

Mrs. O. W. Martin, Sr., 93, the oldest charter member of Homemakers Extension Work in Appomattox County.

Part 2 A New Endeavor

By Frances H. Paulette

This week is Extension Homemakers Week and Appomattox County with fourteen clubs has every reason to boast. Just as the first members of the organization in the county were in the very capable hands of Mrs. Ella Anderson, our women today are equally as fortunate.

When Lloyd Walton moved to Appomattox from Pittsylvania County to begin his duties as the superintendent of Appomattox County Schools, he brought to this county more than his ability and experience enabling him to funetion at the highest level of his office - - he brought his wife!

Shirley Williams Walton, a native of Sutherlin, Va. (Pittsylvania County) graduated from Dan River High School and Radford College. She completed most of the work required for her master's degree at VPI & SU before motherhood took first priority.

When Shirley began teaching Home Economics at Chatham High School she found more than a rewarding career in education - - - she found a husband! Lloyd was teaching there also. An engaging smile that comes easily and a genuine interest in people endear Shirley Walton not only to the women in Extension Homemakers Work but to all people who meet her. Appomattox County is indeed proud that she is now one of us!

With so many women in Appomattox County making outstanding contributions in the area of Extension Homemakers Club Work it would be impossible to recognize all of them. We would, however, like to mention two.

The oldest charter member of Appomattox County Extension Homemakers Work is 93 and a member of the Oakville Club; she remembers clearly homemaking in the days of THEN. Mrs. O. W. Martin, Sr., the former Lula Coleman of the Spout Spring area lives in Oakville. The mother of seven children, thirteen grandchildren and fourteen great grandchildren, she attends church regularly at Trinity United Methodist Church, Appomattox Charge, where for many years she taught a Sunday school class.

Living with Mrs. Martin are her daughter, Isabelle, and her husband, Bob Martin. Should Isabelle be a bit late getting home from her job at the bank, dinner will be ready and waiting. After all, a lady who is 93 years young has to have something to occupy her time, doesn't she?

Mrs. Marlin was married in 1905 at the age of twenty-one; prior to this she taught school for three years. Mr. Martin died one year after he and Mrs. Martin celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary. He had worked in the Appomatox Hardware Company for many years.

Mrs. Martin proudly displayed a quilt made by her grandmother who had lived to a the ripe old age of 96. The quilt, unusually beautiful with intricate hand stitching has a lining that was dyed with a solution made from boiling walnut hulls in water. Quite ingenuous, those homemakers in the days of THEN!

In speaking of the differences in rearing families THEN companied to NOW, Mrs. Martin commented, "I believe the greatest difference is the way we get from place to place. I remember so well taking the children in a buggy and going to Lynchburg shopping; the roads were pretty good in the summer but quite rough in the winter months." She and Mr. Martin got their first car, a Model T Ford about 1918. That was quite a step in changing their lifestyle.

Mrs. Martin has many interests - - - her family, her friends, the church, and of course the Extension Homemakers Work, but she has another hobby - - - playing rook! She told me that she has been playing ever since it has been popular and from what some of her friends tell me she plays a pretty mean hand!

Another member of the Appomattox County Extension Homemakers Work, Mrs. Tilden Lee has been a member of the Wreck Island Club for forty years. In the past eighteen years she has accumulated a total of 651 ribbons for winning entries in state and county fairs. Sewing, handcrafts, canning, preserving, refinishing furniture and plaster castings are but a few of her achievements. Doll making began in a really big way when in 1965 she made her first authentic repilica of a Civil War Doll. Since then she has made and dressed dolls of many, many periods. The dresses of the Civil War Dolls with their full skirts enhanced with rows and rows of lace and the delicate handwork make them truly a work of art.

Living on a farm until six years ago when she became a widow, Mrs. Lee enjoys homemaking, is active in church and civic affairs. She is the mother of three children, and seven grandchildren. Like Mrs. Martin, Mrs. Lee has seen many changes since she began her career of homemaking.

On the forty-first anniversary of Extension Homemakers Work in this county we are proud that the women of Appomattox County recognize that homemaking is the greatest career a woman can pursue. Thank you, Shirley Walton, for your outstanding contribution in helping these women achieve their high ideals as homemakers.

Foreign Language Week Observed

The Latin and Spanish classes of the Appomattox County High School, whose sponsors are Miss Claudine O'Brien and Miss Gayle Jordon, were involved in Foreign Language Week during the week of April 25th through the 29th. The international theme was "United through Languages."

The two language classes were occupied with many activities during this busy week. Projects, posters, and exhibits centering around Foreign Language Week were made by students to display around the school and community. The highlight of the week was the tea for the faculty and honored guests. One of the highly respected guests was Mr. Marshall Brannon, who is Assistant Supervisor of Foreign Languages. The people attending the tea were invited to browse through the various displays, projects and art work situated around the room. They could also enjoy the delicious food, prepared by the language students, while listening to music sung in different languages.

Other activities prepared for the week included announcing the daily menu in Latin and Spanish over the intercom and touring Washington D. C. on Friday, April 29th. Forty-two students and four chaperones journeyed to sightsee in Washington.

The Foreign Language Week was truly a success. Each student helped in some way to make this week an enjoyable and learning experience for the whole school. Eveyone is looking to another successful Foreign Language Week next year.
